I think you are right but the more I thought about it the more I thought they already know this and we should just cut to the request.

So if you are okay, I will take that out and send back to you to send to all of them.

Thanks.

I had thought in our meeting the other day we said we should state what the questions we are trying to answer are. If you think they've already got a handle on that and want to take that out, that's fine. Thanks.

Ben/Jill,

Looking at the back and forth I would suggest keeping it simple. I think the main purpose is the data request and I do not think we need to articulate beyond what we already state why we are requesting the data.

So here would be my suggestion to make it simple. If you want to discuss we can set-up a time to have a quick discussion today. I think we need to get this out today. Thanks.

I wanted to thank you on behalf of all the EPA staff for meeting with us last week. In that meeting we discussed data that NOAA has gathered over the past few years off of the Oregon and Washington coasts. We are writing to request some of the data that you mentioned. As you know, for EPA's Clean Water Act regulatory purposes, the most helpful information is data within State waters (three miles off the Washington and Oregon coasts). This would include both water quality data and biological data that indicate impairment to aquatic life.

Deliberative Process / Ex. 5

Deliberative Process / Ex. 5 We understand you are very busy and have tried to target our request to the information most critical to our work. We would be happy to have a follow-up call to focus our request and determine the easiest method to transmit the requested information.

Hi Jill –

I'd like to propose a couple edits to some of the language you added. Please take a look and tell me (with cc to Mike) if this is OK by you. Or call me if we're not seeing this the same way, OK? Thanks. -BC
